inspired Learning

'inspiring you to achieve results'

e-Learning

TrainingSensei

inspired Learning
'inspiring you to achieve results'

in partnership with

TrainingSensei

At Inspired Learning each individual that we develop really matters to us and we recognise that people learn in different ways. We also value that time is precious and when people are busy things such as development can easily get pushed aside.

Alongside our face-to-face development we provide engaging and interactive e-Learning modules to enable us to cater for different learning styles and to offer a blended learning solution.

To enable you to provide the best experience for your employees on their learning journey we will work with you to offer a tailored package. We have carefully selected these e-Learning modules to either be used as stand alone bite-sized modules or alternatively to compliment our face-to-face workshops.

Take a look at the following two pages to see our e-Learning offerings and a short description of what you can expect from them.

If you would like to find out about our bundle offers and discuss your options please email us at:

hello@inspiredlearningltd.co.uk or call us on: 01270 629601

Unconscious Bias

Unconscious Bias is everywhere, and we do it without even realising. This module helps you to recognise when you could be biased, and how you can prevent it from affecting the decisions you make.

Traits of Effective Leaders

What do effective leaders have in common? This module explains the key behaviours that are the starting point for every great leader.

Respect in the Workplace

No matter where you work, respect is crucial to success. Building a culture of respect can heighten focus, encourage collaboration and increase job satisfaction. So where do managers come in?

Performance Reviews

Performance reviews, appraisals, assessments...whatever you call them, this module explains how to make them more effective than ever.

Organisation Skills

As a manager, being organised is a must. In this module we explore what that means, why it's a good thing, and how to get better at planning and organising effectively.

Motivating your Team

How can I motivate my team? It's the ultimate leadership question. This module shows you how.

Managing your Team

Everyone in your team is different, but you succeed and fail together. In this module, we'll learn how to manage your team members so they can flourish both together and as individuals.

Managing Stress

Dealing with stress and making sure it doesn't negatively impact your life is as important as ever. In this module, we'll learn about the symptoms of stress and how you can help to reduce them.

e-Learning Modules

Management vs Leadership
Effective management starts with the right way of thinking. In this module, we explore how management differs from leadership, and how this influences your focus as a manager.

Making Good Decisions
Being decisive can be hard, but it's a crucial part of management. In this module, we look at different decision-making styles and when to use them, and how to make good decisions effectively.

Hiring Employees
Hiring is a crucial part of management. In this module, we explain how to avoid the pitfalls of hiring and make sure you recruit the best person for the job.

Giving and Receiving Feedback
Feedback is something we deal with from the moment we're born. This module shows you how to give and receive it like a pro.

Effective Meetings
Meetings are inevitable, and we've all been stuck in bad ones. In this module, we look at how to run meetings effectively, and how to avoid some common meeting complaints.

Driving Innovation
Innovation is more important than ever. Here are some hints and tips for driving innovation in your team.

Creating a Trust Culture
Good leadership starts with building a trust culture in your team. Here, we show you how to create a working environment that makes the most of everyone's skills.